NGI Subscriber User Guides: MidDay Price Alert: Data Access

Login: For NGI Site Access, always make sure you are logged in. The red boxes at top right depict both situations - the top is what a non-logged-in user will see, while the bottom shows what you will see after a successful login. The login box is found at the top right-hand corner of every page on our website. If you’re uncertain of your login credentials, first review our help docs entitled “How to Log Into the NGI Website” and if still unsure, read “How to Get Help from NGI”

Basic Access: The smaller blue boxes above show how to get to the MidDay Price Alert area of our website from our homepage (www.naturalgasintel.com). Hover your mouse over “NGI” and the menu that you see above will appear. The second option down is NGI MidDay Price Alert - click it. Shortcut: If you hover over MY NGI WELCOME, you will see a dropdown list. Clicking any option will take you there directly.

MidDay Price Alert: Data Access

You’ll now see the screen above. The red box highlights current MidDay Price Alert Subscriber Content options. Note that MidDay Price Alert is a data subscription only. Clicking MidDay Alert Prices under Subscriber Content allows users to access the latest MidDay Prices (posted by 2:30 PM EST each day).

The purple box (Premium Content) at bottom right highlights the MidDay Price Alert subscription add-on - If this option does not work for you, please ask your company subscriptions manager. MidDay Price Alert Data Feed allows users to download daily prices directly as CSV files.
